Initial Licensure

Candidates who have a bachelor's degree from an accredited university and are seeking a master's degree and an initial Illinois Professional Educator License in Early Childhood Education (Birth to Grade 2).

Earning a degree in Early Childhood Education (ECE) prepares you for working with children from birth through second grade. At GSU, you will gain the professional knowledge and competencies needed to become a highly effective educator so you can provide your students with nurturing and safe learning environments and help make a positive difference in the lives of young children and their families. Through your studies, you will learn the educational, developmental, social, and physical needs of young children and work alongside mentor teachers who model best practices in early childhood.

Career Paths

Many doors will open for you once you earn your MA in ECE. Here are just some of the potential careers you can pursue:

- kindergarten, first, or second-grade teacher
- preschool or infant/toddler teacher
- family/parent educator or specialist
- child and family advocate
- assessment specialist
- early intervention specialist
- curriculum specialist
- education coordinator
