Brief Description of Intern Responsibilities and Learning Opportunities:

Arab American Family Services (AAFS) is a social service agency providing case management, domestic violence, citizenship and elderly services to a primarily immigrant community, mostly Arab Americans but also Latino and Polish Americans in the south suburban area of Chicago. In addition, short-term, crisis counseling and mental health services are provided to parents and children served at our agency. Students engage in learning how to assist clients with public benefit applications, how to do outreach in the local community with a case worker, how to complete a psychosocial history, provide counseling to individuals and families, engage in providing psycho-educational groups as needed, and attend in-house trainings and staff meetings.

Prerequisites

Special Orientation or Training prior to student beginning work with clients:

It is helpful if students complete the Basic 40 Hour Domestic Violence Training prior to starting field placement at the agency. Also, all students will have a one day orientation to Arab American Family Services in early September so they have information about AAFS policies and procedures, expectations of the Field Supervisor and placement, and have been provided a cultural sensitivity training to understanding the Arab/Muslim culture in particular.

Brief Description of Intern Responsibilities and Learning Opportunities

We provide individual, family and couple’s counseling. We have an intensive student training program in which students will learn numerous evidenced based models and focus on ACT, DBT, FAP and family systems approaches. Our training goal is informed by and based on the above-listed values and principles. We prepare students primarily through “learning-by-doing.” Students receive an organized individualized sequence of closely supervised professional psychosocial treatment delivery experiences. These “hands-on” experiences are graduated in complexity; build on the student’s abilities and previous learning. These “hands-on” experiences are also augmented by various other learning activities designed at expanding students theoretical understanding and knowledge and integrating it with his/her professional practice skills and competencies.

FACT SHEET ON PRACTICUM PLACEMENT

Thank you for considering the Family Counseling Center for your clinical practicum experience. We believe we create a rewarding individualized experience for our students. Here are some answers to frequently asked questions by our interviewees.

Hours

- Students work July 27, 2012-July 31, 2013. The start date is a mandatory 8 hour training day.
- 16 hours per week is the standard amount our practicum students work.
- Fridays are mandatory from 9am-12pm this is when we hold group supervision and didactic training.
- The other day(s) will be based on your availability; we are open from 9am-9pm.
- Our main site is in Joliet; however we also have openings at our Homewood and New Lenox clinics. Site preference will be considered but assignment to a particular site is not a guarantee.
- Schedules, once set, will be permanent. We require you to hand in a schedule in late June or early July.
- Students will be expected to be in the clinic during the hours of the set schedule.

Client Load

- Practicum students are expected to carry a client load of 10.
- Students will spend the majority of the time seeing their assigned clients. Time outside of therapy, didactic, group supervision, and individual supervision will be spent assisting with agency tasks and completing required paperwork. Students may also have opportunities to participate in a research team and/or develop and provide group counseling.
- Your clients are assigned to you based on your availability and are often assigned in your absence. Therefore, being prompt for your work day is imperative.
- Marriage and family track students will be given priority concerning assignment of couples and families.

Individual Supervision

- One hour of individual supervision is built into your schedule each week.
- This hour is used for going over paperwork as well as case conceptualization and guidance. Please be prepared for each hour with your necessary folders and questions regarding specific clients.
- If all current client needs are met, then your individual supervision hour will be used to discuss theoretical orientation and professional development.
- From time to time, your supervision hour might need to be rescheduled, and your supervisors are open to working with you to find an alternative time for our meeting. You are expected to initiate this process. You will also have access to numerous clinically licensed professionals should your supervisor be unavailable.

Additional Supervision and Training

- You will have 1.5 hours of Group Supervision with your supervisors and colleagues each week.
- You will have 1.5 hours of Didactic most weeks. The topics typically covered include FAP, ACT, DBT, and Marriage & Family Therapy. We also have various specialists from the clinic covering other topics.

Brief Description of Intern Responsibilities and Learning Opportunities

The Regional Institute for Scholastic Excellence serves students from grades 6 through 12 who are eligible for suspension or expulsion, or who have been suspended or may be expelled, due to gross misconduct. It is offered to students by the local public school districts serviced by the South Cook Intermediate Service Center #4 as an optional educational opportunity for students who may be expelled, are suspended, or at risk of failure or dropout.

Students must complete one full semester. This means that if a student enters after the start of a semester, they will complete that semester as well as the following semester in the program. Students may be placed in lieu of expulsion for the term of the possible expulsion. Review and return dates are identified at the time of the intake meeting.

Brief Description of Intern Responsibilities and Learning Opportunities

Trinity Northwest operates an adult day program for individuals with a dual diagnosis of mental illness and developmental disabilities, as well as 12 CILAs in the northwest suburbs and North Chicago. Interns are placed in the day program's psychosocial rehabilitation program. Interns will research, plan, modify, and facilitate therapy groups for a variety of subjects, from banking and culinary skills to anger management and drama therapy. Interns will hold an individual caseload of 1-4 clients and see each individual on a weekly basis. Interns at Trinity Northwest are expected to have a strong work ethic, take the initiative when creating groups, work as a team with co-interns and with day program and leadership staff. Interns are expected to complete a variety of small projects, including social histories, run pre/post tests for every group, contribute with research into evidence-based practices, complete Medicaid paperwork, conduct assessments and collect data as needed. Interns will have many opportunities to attend trainings, seminars, and conferences offered at Trinity and elsewhere.

PrerequisitesSpecial Orientation or Training prior to student beginning work with clients:

Interns will complete a week-long Pre-Service training prior to or immediately after their internship begins. A de-escalation course will be offered within two months of the start date. A mandatory Medicaid training will be held at the start of the internship. All further trainings will be optional unless otherwise noted.

Specific Knowledge and Skill Areas Required:

Prior experience with individuals with mental illness or a developmental disability is preferred, but not required. Interns are encouraged to utilize any skills or interests they may have while completing the internship (for example, a former intern with a theatre background used acting warm-ups to help the individuals identify facial cues for emotions like anger, happiness, and sorrow. Another student with a background in music created a music therapy group).
