

BIO

Deborah James, Ph.D.

Dr. Deborah James currently serves as assistant professor and coordinator of the Media Studies program at Governors State University. With a focus on new media, she designed the Social Networking and Participatory Culture concentration and teaches courses including Social Media, Global Social Change and Media, and Game Play.

Dr. James is a GSU 2014-15 Excellence Award recipient for teaching and research and has published her work in Feminist Media Studies, Journal of Communication, and Studies in Documentary Film. Her research interests include social media and emerging digital cultures. Her interactive documentary work, (RE)ACTIVE CITIES, was chosen for a Central European University's summer 2015 incubator program.

Alongside her academic activities, Dr. James copy writes and develops social media strategies for Geist Creative, a multimedia development company located in Toronto, Canada. She holds a Ph.D. in Communication.