School of Extended Learning

The Knowledge Exchange invites you to join in this fall's diverse class offerings. This session will be held on Fridays for eight weeks beginning September 16 and ending on November 4, mornings and afternoons.

Morning Sessions (10 a.m. - noon)

Sustaining the Public Square: Elections

Class Co-Facilitators: Keith Kemp and Al Sturges

In our 3rd annual series of civically engaged lectures and presentations, this year's topic couldn't help but explore the subject of elections! Join this class to participate in lively and informative sessions such as Campaign Finance & Volunteerism with former campaign manager Doug Price, Immigration Policies with Dr. Andrae Marak of Governors State University, a history of The Shaker Decree and its impact on government operations with attorney Peter Monahan, Consumption Recession Issues with Dr. Anthony Andrews of Governors State University, Energy Issues at both Federal and Local levels and their impact on voters with environmental lawyer Mel Nickerson, The State Budget: Federal Issues & Journalistic Approach with Rick Bryant (Asst. to R. Kelly), a chat with the League of Women Voters and more!

Beatles-ology

Class Leader: Jerome Julian

The Beatles' iconic status and enduring legacy are well-known. However, less attention has been given to the more intriguing and unusual intellectual and cultural elements expressed in their work. This entertaining class takes a deeper dive into the Fab Four, with an emphasis on less-explored topics, including the esoteric influences on their music, lyrics, film, and art. Class will review the band's output & share insights through multi-media presentation, lecture, and discussion.

The Supreme Court: Classic and Contemporary Cases

Class Leader: Carl Stover

Many citizens know what the Supreme Court has ruled in major cases, but few know why. How have the Justices reached (or rationalized) their conclusions? Participants in this class will read excerpts from the actual Opinions of the Justices using both current and pending issues, and will discuss the plausibility of these opinions both in themselves and in their context of principles, precedents, and politics. No prior legal knowledge or experience is necessary; reading materials will be condensed to approximately fifteen pages per week.

COURSE CODE: CE-TKE01-13

SPECIAL 4-WEEK CLASS Meeting on 10/14, 10/21, 10/28 & 11/4

GET OUT OF THE MUD!! The Invention of Highways in America - 1900 to 1927 Class Leader: Larry McClellan

A four-week review of the invention of automobile highways across the country with author and Route 66 traveler Larry McClellan. Presented with accompanying PowerPoint images, this class will include topics such the Good Roads Move, the explosion of auto tourism and the creation of "named highways", stories of the Lincoln and Dixie Highways, the trails and roads that became Route 66 and the evolution of the federal highway system, Routes 1 to 101.

Afternoon Sessions (1 - 3 p.m.)

Music Appreciation: The How and Why of Music

Class Leader: Ron Small

An overview of how sound is made and why music sounds as it does. Using some historical aspects of music, this class will include introductions to instruments, voice, conducting and composing. Audiovisual demonstrations will include strings, woodwinds, brass, piano, percussion and harp within various forms of Symphonic and Jazz music including Sonatas, Fugues, Waltzes, Overtures, Marches, Opera, Ballet and yes, even Pop! No musical background is necessary to enjoy this class.

COURSE CODE: CE-TKE01-15 / NOTE: No Class on October 21 / Class extended to Nov. 11

Cinema Studies: Power, Greed, Scandal and Satire: Politics in Film

Class Leader: Suzanne Patterson

A partial repeat of the fall 2008 series of the same name (not all films will be repeated). From domestic corruption to foreign intrigue with some satire and laughs along the way, this class will screen and discuss 8 films which examine the many facets of the world of politics including Elia Kazan's brilliant A Face in the Crowd, Costa-Gavras' searing film Missing, Tim Robbins' satirical mockumentary Bob Roberts and Joan Allen's turn as a first-time female VP in The Contender.

COURSE CODE: CE-TKE01-16 / NOTE: Class time 1 – 3:30 p.m.
