

BIO

Vernon Smith

Vernon Smith is a broadcaster, journalist, writer, editor, and blogger. As the former Station Manager and Program Director at CJAM 99.1 FM (Windsor-Detroit), he is a versatile DJ who has fronted radio programming revolving around jazz, country, rock, freeform, and international music.

Aside from rooting through milk crates for vinyl dreams, he has worked at four daily newspapers and three magazines as a reporter and editor who has sparked questions in Canada's House of Commons. He has served in communications roles with three provincial cabinet ministers.

Smith holds a Bachelor of Applied Arts in Journalism from Ryerson Polytechnical Institute, now Ryerson University, in Toronto, Canada.
