

BIO

TED SLOWIK

Ted Slowik began writing four columns a week for the Daily Southtown in early 2016. He previously worked as a temp in public relations at Morton Arboretum in Lisle; was director of public relations at North Central College in Naperville for seven years; was managing editor of The Naperville Sun newspaper; and a reporter for the Joliet Herald-News, among other positions. He has 30 years experience in media and public relations, including media strategy, social media and analytics. He holds a bachelor's degree in journalism from Lewis University in Romeoville.