The College of Health Professions at Governors State University

The health professions need you

When you become a student in the College of Health Professions at Governors State University, you accept a powerful commitment to help others. The health professions are about care – and caring. Health professionals like you are there when people are in need. You help them overcome illness and injury; you teach them how to work through disabilities to live more independent lives. You conduct research to seek out disparities in healthcare, and you manage the resources to provide quality care.

Excellent preparation

The College of Health Professions knows how important your commitment is to the future of healthcare, so our commitment is to you. We're here to help you achieve every goal. We'll provide you with the best instruction, excellent experience, and a thorough understanding of the emerging issues facing the health professions. We'll teach you how to be the healthcare professional you want to be. And we'll ask you to be a part of our vision for a more responsive, better informed, and fully accessible healthcare system.

The CHP vision

The College of Health Professions believes in community and diversity. Our research focuses on uncovering and eliminating disparities in the healthcare system. We work in the community to conduct research on a translational model. In other words, we bring what we learn back to the community, where it can do the most good. We believe this is important. We share this vision with our students. We want to share it with you.

In the College of Health Professions,

we know nurses are often the hardest working professionals in healthcare.

We also know the difference a BSN can make in a nurse's career. So we've created an RN to BSN program with the flexibility and online enhancements you need to make it to class – and to make your living, too.

We also offer responsive, one-on-one advising, so you can get the attention – and answers – you need when you need them.

The RN to BSN program at GSU is offered part-time or full-time, depending on your needs. And Governors State remains one of the most affordable universities in the State of Illinois – so your education won't break your bank.

We'll enhance your clinical skills. We'll increase your understanding in the sciences. We'll build your knowledge of the profession. When you complete our program, you'll have the skills to be a better communicator and a better manager. And you'll approach patient care with greater expertise.

Learn from the best

We have an expert faculty and small student-to-faculty ratio. At Governors State, you'll learn from an accessible faculty that is actively engaged in clinical practice and research. You'll become a part of the College of Health Professions' focus on the elimination of health disparities in Illinois – and beyond.

Our nursing faculty are leaders, educators, and practice experts in Chicagoland. From advanced practice nurses to doctorally-prepared researchers, our faculty bring the very best of what you want – and need – to learn into the classrooms.

Fully accredited

The graduate nursing program in the College of Health Professions is accredited by the National League for Nursing Accrediting Commission (NLNAC).
