Agenda Item: The team discussed plans for the lunch & learn event on April 10th, including creating a flyer, inviting attendees, and addressing past issues. They also discussed the need for representation from various departments at the event, potential attendees, and the logistics of the lunch and learn event. Additionally, they discussed the challenges of mental health treatment, the importance of involving business owners in these conversations, and the need for a more comprehensive list of employees.

Lunch & Learn: The Council members continued planning for the upcoming Lunch & Learn event scheduled for April 10th with Judge Braden, who has confirmed his availability to participate. Sara volunteered to create a flyer for the event and requested a finalized list of invitees. Kyle mentioned that Todd and Brian would likely attend. The group emphasized the importance of having representation from various departments, including the Sheriff's department. Kyle suggested inviting Shon Park, and Kristina agreed. Sara proposed including Steven Wolke, the county public defender, and Kyle supported the idea. They also considered inviting Steve Carr from the Sheriff's department.

Logistics were further discussed, including whether to provide lunch or have attendees bring their own. The group agreed to order pizza from Casey's. Invitations will be sent out by the end of the week, with a focus on personal outreach to encourage strong attendance. Sara will also prepare a flyer to promote the event and include key points for discussion. Donnelle proposed the use of note cards at the event, allowing attendees to write down their contact information and submit any questions they may have for follow-up or future engagement. Additionally, the team discussed the possibility of replicating the Lunch & Learn model in Clark County, viewing this event as a pilot for similar initiatives in the future.
