

Engaging our Community to talk about Stigma

We have been collaborating with local libraries monthly to engage the community with honest and non judgemental conversation about SUD resulting with a mother from a community historically known as a not in our back yard, receiving Narcan and saving her son from an overdose.

Promoting services in the underserved population

Allowed us to partner with local community stakeholders such as St. Clair County probation to make Narcan safety kits available to all probation officers as well as helping Riverbend Ministries in Woodriver get a Narcan distribution box in their lobby along with information for services for SUD and mental health to the unhoused populations

Partnerships to support recovery efforts.

One of several partnerships that has seen more individuals is AMARE and it's recovery coaches, through this partnership we have also helped start an early recovery groups and to help build healthier foundations for recovery. One gentleman stated "the small groups you have was the perfect way for me to build my recovery, I felt heard , I felt cared for and Im grateful for all of you."
