Old Business:

- What is ROSC? ROSC is a coordinated network of community-based services and supports that is person-centered and builds on the strengths and resilience of individuals, families, and communities to experience recovery and improved health, wellness, and quality of life for those with or at risk of substance use and/or mental health challenges. The central focus of a ROSC is to create an infrastructure, or “systems of care”, with the resources to effectively address the full range of substance use and/or mental health challenges within communities.

- Logan/Mason ROSC Mission Statement: Improving access to health, wellness, and holistic recovery options for people who are at risk of, or suffering from, substance use disorders while educating and connecting Logan and Mason counties to reduce stigma and improve recovery outcomes.

Harm Reduction Location Brainstorm

- During the meeting, there was a discussion about what locations should be contacted to provide harm reduction materials. This is a big item on the ROSC's strategic plan.
- Ron mentioned that schools could have harm reduction resources on hand in the offices.
 - Grace mentioned that all schools are required and have harm reduction resources on hand.
 - Kara Davis, from the Logan County Health Department, trained all of the schools in harm reduction and provided resources.
 - The Mason County Health Department trained schools in Mason County and provided harm reduction resources.
- Johanna mentioned that all the libraries are also required to have harm reduction resources on hand.
 - The only library in the community that doesn't have harm reduction resources yet is Elkhart Library.
- Ron mentioned that Casey's and other gas stations could be a place for harm reduction resources.
- Matt mentioned that vape stores could also use harm reduction resources.
 - Also, pawn shops, retail shops, or anywhere somebody could struggle with addiction could use resources as well.
 - Some people may not feel comfortable going into a police department and asking for naloxone; if we take it to them, they may not feel judged.
- Jeanette mentioned that she reached out to the Lincoln police chief and found out that the police station does not have harm reduction resources.

- There are places at the police station where harm reduction could be placed. Jeanette also got an email back that testing strips would not be placed at the police station.
- Johanna mentioned that we are in the business of keeping people alive by preventing harm and overdose.
 - There may need to be more education provided so that people know the purpose behind testing strips.
 - Having tough conversations may help get harm reduction resources in places like police stations.
 - Johanna also mentioned that it's important to think about what places are open 24/7 for harm reduction resources.
- Ron mentioned that a small percentage of people may use testing strips in a way they're not to be used, but everyone else may be the purpose for those testing strips in the first place.
- Tia mentioned that they put testing strips in the leave behind bags for first responders to give to families and friends of someone who overdosed.
 - She was told by someone in long-term recovery that getting a test strip lets that person know that the other person cares.
- Kristin mentioned that senior centers, peace meal drivers, gaming establishments, gas stations in smaller towns, Salvation Army, and food banks are places that could use harm reduction resources.
- Brycen mentioned that laundromats would be a good location for harm reduction resources.
- Kristin mentioned that food pantries could have bags of harm reduction resources to hand out to people.

Reframing Recovery:

- A new launch for the Stigma Reduction Campaign, Reframing Recovery, is coming soon.
 - Right now, the Logan/Mason ROSC is working on the Medicated-Assisted Recovery section of the campaign. Harm reduction, MAR, and stigma are the top three priorities that the Logan/Mason ROSC is focusing on.
 - Based on survey results, not a lot of people know what MAR is, nor where harm reduction resources are available.
 - MAR materials through this campaign will be coming out April-June.
 - Harm reduction will be the focus from July to September.
 - Stigma and disorder will be the focus from October to December.

- Socialization and recovery housing options will be the focus in January to March next year.
- The hope is to host a training course on each topic of the campaign. If you have any ideas about training or know anyone who could provide training, please reach out.

 - Participants will learn to recognize risk factors and grooming indicators, and apply trauma informed, multidisciplinary strategies for early indicators, intervention, and referral.
 - The training helps professionals identify warning signs early, understand the dynamics of victimization, and respond in a trauma-informed, victim-centered way so that children are protected rather than criminalized.
 - In Illinois, where human trafficking and drug-related child endangerment occur in both urban and rural communities, this training supports coordinated, multidisciplinary responses among law enforcement, child welfare, healthcare, education, and community services.
 - Ultimately, the training strengthens Illinois' efforts to safeguard children, comply with state policies, and improve long-term safety and well-being for vulnerable families.
 - This training is free. It will be held at the ISU Alumni Center in Normal, IL on Tuesday, January 27th from 4:00 p.m. – 7:00 p.m.
